

'India must not deny children advantages of knowing English'

One of the architects of the new National Education Policy (NEP) 2020, former chairman of Indian Space Research Organisation (ISRO) DR K KASTURIRANGAN has played a pivotal role in the latest reforms in Indian education. As chairman of the Kasturirangan Committee that submitted the report that helped form the policy document, the Indian space scientist has been instrumental in making Indian education 21st century-ready. In an interview with Vinay Umarij and T E Narasimhan, Kasturirangan defends scepticism, especially around regional languages as a medium of instruction and fee cap for private institutions, among others. Edited excerpts:

In what salient ways is the new policy different from the previous one?
NEP 2020 aims to help students learn about the world around them and contribute to it in various ways by focusing on learning by doing, by developing critical thinking and problem-solving skills, along with the other 21st century literacies, competencies and personality traits. The policy, therefore, has a keen focus on early childhood care and education as well as in ensuring that students attain literacy and numeracy. There is also emphasis on vocational education that will be integrated into school and college education. Another key focus area is the vision of a liberal education that begins in secondary school and carries on into undergraduate education. There is also a provision to increase the number of researchers and the quality of research through the National Research Foundation.

How different is the new NEP from the report submitted by your committee?
Almost all the recommendations in the draft policy made by the committee have been accepted. Some, such as the new regulatory structure for 'light but tight' regulation has been modified for better efficiency of execution. The draft policy had recommended uncapping fees in the private sector along with the suggestion that private institutes provide scholarships to up to 50 per cent of their students. However, given some Supreme Court judgments on the issue, the government has retained the cap on fees.

Ex-ISRO chairman

What could be some immediate execution challenges of the policy that you foresee?
The execution challenges will depend a lot on the implementation plan that the Centre and the states work out. It will be important to wait for those before assessing the challenges.

There has been some scepticism around local language teaching till Class V in the NEP.
We must not confuse learning languages with the medium of instruction. The policy is clear that as a country we must not deny children the advantages of knowing English. Therefore, English must be taught extremely well to all children in all schools, and especially so in those schools where the medium of instruction until Grade 5/8 is in the mother tongue/local language/regional language. Schools can continue to advertise their medium of instruction for the benefit of parents. However, parents also need to understand the issues regarding language learning. They would like their children to learn English well, starting at a very young age, but this does not happen only by having English as the medium of instruction. There is no compulsion on schools to change their medium of instruction. This is only a strong recommendation to use home language/mother tongue/local language to teach very young children.

While graded autonomy has been a much-needed move, many colleges fear losing affiliation and facing even closure. Are these fears justified?
There are many poor-quality colleges in the country. Besides learning from teachers, students also learn a lot from each other (peer learning). Yet most Indian colleges do not provide the environment for learning since they are very small, have low enrolments, and also do not have any residential facilities.

Apple looks at 10%...

For global players to benefit from the scheme, they have to make phones with a production value of over $200, a slot into which all of Apple's phones fall. There are also various investment and production value conditions. Those who track the company in India estimate that Apple sells over 1.5 million phones in the US. It has a minuscule share of the Indian smartphone market, where over 150 million smartphones are sold annually. Currently, Apple also manufactures and exports its mobile phones, including the new iPhone 11, but in very small quantities from India.

The total exports of mobile phones in India stands at a mere ₹27,000 crore as of 2019-20. The PLI scheme is expected to give a big fillip to the sector. The new electronics policy is targeting exports of mobile phones worth $110 billion by 2025. That will make India the largest exporter, behind China but ahead of its current rival Vietnam, which will be pushed into third place.

Green shoots visible...

"Around nine peripheral hospitals on the outskirts have started non-Covid work now," said the chief executive officer (CEO) of a hospital.

He added: "Large private hospitals in Mumbai have 90-95 per cent occupancies. They have come back to 55-60 per cent. While Covid continues to see higher occupancies, non-Covid hospitalisation has increased." In the North, too, OPDs have picked up in and around Delhi. Dr Mradul Kaushik, senior director, operations and planning, Max Healthcare, said specialties like spine, cardiac, and renal surgeries had started showing signs of recovery. Even the joint replacement programme started about a week back. This is a highly elective surgery. Some hospitals like Fortis have started clinics for post-Covid check-ups. Richa Deb Gupta, senior vice-president, Fortis Healthcare, said green shoots were visible, but there was still some way to go. "In elective surgeries, we are at 30 per cent of January levels. In the past seven to 10 days, daily new cases have started coming down, which has given confidence to people," she said.

At the network level, Deb Gupta said occupancies had dipped to 28-29 per cent in April. "Today non-Covid occupancies are at 40-45 per cent, and at group level occupancies are 52-53 per cent, of which 12-13 per cent are Covid occupancies. Usual occupancies at group level in pre-Covid times used to be 72-73 per cent," she said. Are Covid beds in hospitals going empty? Not just yet.

Hospital administrators are saying Covid beds continue to remain occupied, but the waiting list has reduced in cities like Mumbai and Delhi. Things are not looking as good in cities like Bengaluru or Kolkata, which are witnessing a surge in cases. "The spread (of Covid) is now happening in tier 2 cities. Our Raigarh hospital had higher occupancies earlier, but now when we screen elective surgery patients for Covid, many turn out to be positive," Deb Gupta said.

Alok Roy, chair, Federation of Indian Chambers of Commerce and Industry health services committee, and chairman, Medica Group, which operates hospitals in Kolkata and other eastern states, said: "For the non-Covid business, it's only 10 per cent of January levels." He said West Bengal, Karnataka, and Tamil Nadu were in the same boat, and there the cases had peaked later. Dilip Jose, CEO of Manipal Hospitals, said the situation was different in many cities. "Our Delhi and Jaipur hospitals have seen non-Covid work picking up. In Bengaluru and adjoining areas, the priority is Covid now and most elective surgeries, etc are put on hold," Jose said. From 70 per cent overall occupancies in pre-Covid times, it now sees occupancies of 45 per cent or so. It had slipped to 30 per cent or so during the lockdown.

Once overseas travel eases, hospitals expect more revenues and footfalls. Manipal, for example, draws 10 per cent of its revenues from medical tourism. With Covid spreading to the hinterland, patients are less reluctant to travel to metros. Analysts, however, do not expect 2020-21 to be a great year for hospitals.

Videocon...

It was believed by banks that if a consolidation of all VIL assets takes place, it will result in better realisation and benefit all stakeholders. VIL is not the only company facing lack of interest from bidders due to the pandemic. Several mergers and acquisitions (M&As) have moved into the slow lane due to altered economic conditions. Last week, JSW Energy announced it has decided not to go ahead with the acquisition of GMR Odisha Kamalanga Energy buyout deal due to the pandemic. In fact, the M&As by Indian companies saw a sharp dip of 36 per cent till July in 2020, compared to the same period last year. Without Reliance Jio stake-sale deals, the M&A transactions are down 56 per cent — showing low appetite for acquisitions for Indian companies.

Import ban on TVs...

Chinese TV major TCL's dependence on imports is not low either. Estimates suggest it imports over 50 per cent of its portfolio from China. According to Mike Chen, general manager, TCL India, while it has a plant at Tirupati (Andhra Pradesh), it will take time to localise the high-end models. The plant is capable of producing models up to 55 inches and TCL will increase localisation, following the recent order. Currently, it imports 35 per cent of its TVs from the US, Brazil, and Thailand, said Chen.

Smartphone majors like OnePlus and Realme entered the fast-growing smart TV space recently. These, along with Indian brand VU, import nearly all TVs they sell here. While they have plans to begin procuring locally, their business is expected to get hit in the short term. Moreover, what is haunting most TV marketers is the steep price hikes on components. During the initial phase of the Covid-19 pandemic — in February — disruptions in the supply chain in China yanked up prices by 30-40 per cent. By July, the rise had been 50 per cent on TV panels. Flat panels that are totally imported, primarily from China, form over 65 per cent of the cost of manufacturing a TV set. According to Avneet Singh Marwah, chief executive officer, Super Plastics, price hikes are inevitable now. "Nobody can absorb this kind of rise in cost," said Marwah.

This has further increased the burden on Chinese players, most of whom operate on wafer-thin margins. Xiaomi, for example, has a stated objective of keeping its net margin lower than 5 per cent. Others, too, operate at a similar level, said sources. Chen, however, ruled out any price hikes at TCL. "We make sure that the products given to our customers are of utmost quality. India is a price-sensitive country, where we customise products for the Indian audience, so that they can afford it," he said.

Targeting China

The restrictions imposed by the Centre on the import of finished TV sets that have screen size larger than 14 inches is primarily aimed at controlling imports from Vietnam and China. While manufacturers will still have options like securing licences for import, sources said, it will help the government restrict imports from China. "The plan is to issue licences on a case-by-case basis. Now, authorities will have the power to directly control imports from China," said a person familiar with the matter. The data from the Department of Commerce shows that in 2019-20, the share of finished TV imports of the total TV-related imports came down, while total imports surged. While ₹8,500 crore worth of TV sets and components were imported from China, the share of finished sets stood at 26 per cent or ₹2,200 crore.

RBI to govt...

"Work is on to improve their asset quality," said a banker. According to sources, the six banks may not take on any lumpy credit exposure in the near term and will remain focused on cutting non-performing assets by at least a third by the end of 2020-21. "They will participate in the government's credit guarantee schemes," another highly placed source said. The Centre and the RBI are monitoring their asset quality.
